Legislature, continuing to be representative after Bulloch County was created, serving for the two counties for 27 years. He sat in the House which convened at Louisville, Ga., the Capital when the Yazoo Fraud controversy arose and witnessed the burning of the papers.

Ann, Major Lanier's first wife, died a few years after he came to Georgia. She had serious religious scruples against the practice of law and he yielded to her wishes not to do so for a livelihood, but he drew up most of the legal papers in the community where he lived. He never charged any fees. Her body lies by his side in Moore's Cemetery, once known as Middle Ground Cemetery in what is now Bulloch County. On August 6, 1803, he married Esther Butts Thorn. He then moved near Oliver where he maintained a home for years. In that home hung the sword which had been presented to him by General Washington to replace the one which had been lost in battle.

Major Lanier and his second wife had six children: namely, Noel Lanier, Isaac Lanier, Annie Lanier who married a Kelly, Elizabeth Clarissa Lanier who married a Jackson, Sara Lanier who married a Strickland, and Mary McCall Lanier who married a Ledbetter.

Thomas B. Lanier moved to Atlanta and was the father of Rev. Dr. Thomas Lanier, of the South Georgia Methodist Conference. There was one other brother among the several brothers and sisters who moved near the Florida line and served as a Christian Preacher. The descendants of James Lanier moved to Florida in their early years.

Isaac Lanier was born in 1806 and died in 1885. His children were Augustus Butler Lanier, Lewis Lanier, Noel Lanier, Lamar Lanier, John Lanier, Rebecca Lanier, Lucy Lanier who married Pete Kemp, Mary Lanier who married Jim Hilton, Ella McCall Lanier and Hettie Lanier.

Noel Lanier was born in 1811 and died in 1890. His children were Thomas Washington Lanier, William H. Lanier, Isaac Lanier, Middleton Lanier, Laura Lanier, Eliza Lanier, Emmett Lanier, Alonza Lanier, Theodore A. Lanier and Jefferson D. Lanier. Dr. Augustus Butler Lanier, son of Isaac, practiced medicine in Oliver for 60 years. He graduated from Oglethorpe Medical School in Savannah in 1855, where his father was a merchant. Two of his sons, Sidney and LaDesay, followed in this noble profession and served the people of Oliver and surrounding country. Neither of these lived beyond middle age.

Major Lewis Lanier was a personal friend of Marquess De LaFayette and was invited with a very distinguished group of men: Gov. Troupe, Wm. H. Crawford, Judge Berien, and others to a reception tended La Fayette in Savannah, Georgia, on March 19, 1828. He was in feeble health and could not attempt the trip. He died on Feb. 12, 1839, at the age of 83, one month after the marriage of his son, Noel Lanier, who had attended his property for years.

His second wife was buried in Ogeechee Church Cemetery at Oliver where rest the remains of five generations of Laniers.

The Laniers in England are stated in the Dictionary of National Biography to have been of French origin, having fled with the Huguenots from the persecutions of the Catholics in France. On August 4th, 1572, Charles the 9th of France ordered the Massacre of the Huguenots, known as the Massacre of St. Bartholomew (they were Protestants) and in twenty four hours 20,000 of them fell under the sword because they would not embrace the Catholic Faith. Not long afterwards there was a great exodus of Huguenots from France and 250,000 of them representing the industrial life of France fled to other countries.

John Lanier who died in 1572 is referred to as having been a musician and a native of Rouen, France. He was probably father of John Lanier the 2nd, musician to her majesty, Queen Elizabeth. This John Lanier married Oct. 12, 1586, daughter of Mark Anthony Galliaro, who had served as musician to Henry VIII.

The most distinguished of the English family, Nicholas, son of John just referred to was baptised in London, September 10th, 1588. He became a musician in the Royal Household. He held subsequently a high position among the Royal musicians both as composer and performer. With the outbreak of the Civil War in England, the fortunes of the family declined and Nicholas Lanier followed the Stuarts into exile. At the restoration, he was restored to his office. The earliest American of the name connected by the records with their ancestry was John Lanier, possible grandson of Sir John. He was resident in Virginia in 1676.

History tells us that Major Lewis Lanier was born in Virginia in 1756, the son of Sampson Lanier, grandson of Sampson Lanier the 1st, and great grandson of John Lanier, and that he died Feb. 12, 1839. Major Lewis Lanier volunteered as a private from Essex County, Virginia in the Revolutionary War, was made Captain, and afterwards promoted by General George Washington, a relative to the rank of Major on his staff. His mother, Elizabeth Chamberlain, was granddaughter of Sir John Washington, earliest American member of that distinguished family, which produced a century later the first president of the United States, George Washington. He lost his sword in the Delaware River while attacking the Hessian German Troops. He was twice wounded by the enemy and imprisoned for nine months. During the stirring times of the Revolutionary War, he accused General Butler of South Carolina of cowardice in battle, fought a duel with him, in which both were wounded. Later they made friends, and Major Lanier married General Butler's daughter, Ann, on September 21, 1778. Two children were the results of that union, they were, Thomas Butler Lanier and James Lanier.

In 1790-92, he moved to Georgia locating in that part of Screven County which is now Bulloch. In 1794 he represented Screven County in the Pat, I replied to your newspaper query. Scott Maxwell in Brandon this am. by US mail... Not much help, I'm afraid. In answer to your Lanier question, I sent an earlier note. However, this morning I finally had a chance to get into the book that I got at the UM Ellis Library yesterday called "The History of Elbert Co. Ga" where I got much of my Maxwell info. Guess what family is in there and "big Time" LANIER. Let me know if you want me to post any information because it is pretty comprehensive. Compiled by the DAR chapter there in 1952. Lots of other families there that I am sure moved down to your area of Miss.

Does any of this help? Since I am on staff at UM, I can keep this book until August. I also have a History of Middlesex County, VA with some names in it. Let me know or pass this info to anyone you know who might be interested in it. They should e-mail me if they are interested because>>>> I have been so busy writing this book on the Maxwells that I have not been too thorough in checking all the categories on the BB. I wouldn't want to miss a query of me and make someone feel badly.

I sent Relf a private message..The book is 696 pages. The cost to copy in time and in dollars would be prohibitive. It would really take a couple of hours and depending on the copy, probably $100 or so to copy. I simply don't have the time. The book is available on microfilm at an LDS Family History Center. That is where I first saw mine. I managed to track down the widow of the publisher who had sold the firm and she had a copy left that cost $40. The UM press in Ann Arbor will sell one on high quality paper and hard bound (mine is paperback) for $150-180. Wish I could be of more help but sorry. The book is extremely well documented and except for a very small number of errors, I have been able to substantiate every thing in. I was able to find my gggm listed, and just recently had my lineage approved back to Nicholas who left France in 1561, enabling me to join the Huguenot society. (the Laniers were Huguenots.)

SUBJECT: LEDBETTER/LANIER

Hey, Relf, Clark and all you searching this line! I found a Ledbetter cemetery in Lowndes Co.,MS. chock full of Ledbetters. Gray Ledbetter, son of Charles and Frances Randle Ledbetter, married Celia Johnson. She is buried in this cemetery along with a whole slew of Randles. Celia was born 8 Jan. 1775 d. 25 Oct. 1856. Lots of Smiths in cemetery, too. Glad to share with you guys. I thought maybe this would help establish a place to LOOK in MS. found Frederick Randle, Frederick, Jr., Julius. Were any of you looking for Richard Ledbetter b. 1 May 1810 d. 28 Aug. 1877? He married Martha Ann. Also found a Bible record for Walter Newton and Sarah Elizabeth Young Ledbetter. I'm back in MS looking for
